INCENTIVES TO VAMPIRES.

In Bayaria the graveyard keepers have lately been detected pillaging graves.

There is no more revolting theft than snatching a corpse from the grave, stripping it of all that is worth anything, and perhaps carrying the body to a dissecting room to be carved up by an embryo physician.

What can stir the feelings of relatives more than the thought that avaricious ghouls should dare to wrest tenderly loved ones from the bosom of the earth where they sleep in the long solemn slumber of death !

But it is almost to encourage these mercenary graveyard thieves to consign a corpse to the earth with jewels, or rich clothes, or other articles of value about their persons. Somet mes an object to is buried with him, and this may pass. But to make the casket of the dead a jewel casket is to encourage the grave
